Captain's Log -- W. Ashby

Found: captain's cabin, DC 15. The core reveal.

(earlier entries, routine, business as usual, omitted here)

Final entry --

The water's given out from under us. No getting it back out here, not with anything we have aboard. Hull can't outlast the drift on stores alone, not for six of us. The boats can, if we're fast and don't waste what we're given.

Jettisoning what we can spare, splitting the crew between both boats, running for the Calder waypoint, the last mark the charts still confirm. Leaving the Verge behind, powered down, heading set for Bral on dead reckoning, in case anyone ever finds her and wonders.

No one's done anything wrong here. The water just stopped.

Whoever reads this, I hope it found you well.